

HOME
ABOUT
FEEDBACK
MY PROFESSIONAL WEBSITE
MY WORK
OTHER BLOGS

Wits For Kicks

[Something Creative Here]

YOU ARE FOLLOWING THIS BLOG

You are following this blog (manage).

CATAGORIES

INSTANATALIE

#TTFHigherEd

September 20, 2014 · by Natalie Harms

“The Completion Crisis” panel at the 2014 Texas Tribune Festival

September 2014

S M T W T F S

1 2 3 4 5 6

7 8 9 10 11 12 13

14 15 16 17 18 19 20

21 22 23 24 25 26 27

If you even come near my social media right now, you can tell I’m at the Texas Tribune Festival. I’ve only been to a couple higher ed panels thus

28 29 30

« Aug

RECENT POSTS

- o #TTFHigherEd
- o 50 Fun, Cheap Dates (That Aren't Netflix)
- o Everyone Is All About That Bass
- o Why Reality Dating Shows Are Awesome
- o 10 Things That Will Happen with Chris as the Bachelor far, but so far so good. Here are some observations:

“Closing the Gaps”

So, I got here late, but this was a topic on last year's tribfest and it seems nothing has changed. Basically the topic is how to help first-generation and high-risk college students get into school, afford school and graduate. This obviously delved into a little bit of high school education, but mainly stuck to challenges minority students face when it comes to a college education.

TWEETEEER

- o So much twitter action rn. The real reason I wanted to come to #tribunefest was to increase my followers. #jkjk 1 hour ago
- o In summary, "The Completion Crisis" is not a crisis. But, we all could do better to provide support to students #TTFhigher 1 hour ago
- o Attitudes and confidence of administrators toward high-risk students needs to change — Natalicio of UTEP #TTFhigher 1 hour ago

Follow @nataliejharms

 Natalie Harms @nataliejharms 3h
Leh go #tribunefest. Can't wait for some education and public policy. #thingsonlyisay

 Natalie Harms @nataliejharms Follow

Only about 17% of community college students who say they want baccalaureate degrees get them. - @JulietVGarcia #TTFhighered

9:06 AM - 20 Sep 2014

2 RETWEETS 2 FAVORITES

 Cara Michelle Smith @Cara_Smith5 Follow

"I never thought in my lifetime, I'd worry about men not going to school and women being the ones in college." - @JulietVGarcia #TTFhighered

8:51 AM - 20 Sep 2014

3 RETWEETS

 Natalie Harms @nataliejharms Follow

We need to layout our plans and benchmark. We can't hide our numbers. -- Woody Hunt #TTFhighered #tribunefest

9:13 AM - 20 Sep 2014

1 FAVORITE

Cara Michelle Smith

@Cara_Smith5

Follow

In TX, a 60 hr. associates program takes 90 hours to complete, and a 120 hr. baccalaureate program takes 147 hrs. to complete. #TTFHigerEd

9:23 AM - 20 Sep 2014

3 RETWEETS 2 FAVORITES

Cara Michelle Smith

@Cara_Smith5

Follow

"I happen to think it's immoral if you admit students that you don't think will graduate." -Raymund Paredes, TX Higher ed Commissioner

9:25 AM - 20 Sep 2014

4 RETWEETS 1 FAVORITE

Cara Michelle Smith

@Cara_Smith5

Follow

Former HS math teacher from Loyola, TX said some of her graduating students struggled writing one-page essays with punctuation. #TTFHigerEd

9:28 AM - 20 Sep 2014

2 RETWEETS

Panelists: UT-Brownsville President Juliet Garcia, TX Higher Ed Coordinating Board Chairman Woody Hunt, TX Higher Ed Commissioner Raymund Paredes, State Senator/Senate Higher Ed Committee Chairmen Kel Seliger, and A&M Chancellor John Sharp, with Tribune Reporter Reeve Hamilton.

"The Completion Crisis"

OK, Texas Tribune... name your panels better. Literally every panelist said that crisis was a misnomer. Maybe it was just a little severe, because they all did admit a problem. The panelists skirted around a few issues, but talked A LOT about outcomes-based funding for universities and community colleges. UH President/Chancellor Renu Khator expressed her support of outcomes-based funding and explained that UH already has a system in place with different colleges and universities in the system.

Natalie Harms

@nataliejharm

Follow

I 100% support outcomes-based funding, but it can't have redistributive properties & must be mission-based & depend on universities —
@UHpres

10:23 AM - 20 Sep 2014

1 RETWEET

So did UT President Bill Powers.

Natalie Harms

@nataliejharm

Follow

We've got outcomes-based funding, and I can't imagine not having it. Every bit of funding should have it — Bill Powers #TTFhigher

10:27 AM - 20 Sep 2014

1 RETWEET

But, they both agreed—along with the rest of the panel—that every school is different and there is not a one-size-fits-all approach to it. Universities will experience push back and will suffer some loss.

The outcomes-based funding metrics and measures are also not fully appropriate for all universities, since everyone is different and has different missions. Plus, where the funding goes should depend on what the school is succeeding at. Khator explained that these things need to be involved when holding students and administrators accountable.

Powers mentioned that the metrics are not beneficial, but didn't provide his opinion on the best solution.

The other problem is, with state outcomes-based funding, that while this issue has been introduced, state funding has declined. This presents a bigger problem. There's not enough money it seems, to give to schools in general, let alone on an outcomes-based merit.

Natalie Harms

@nataliejharm

Follow

State appropriations have been declining while incentive-based funding has been developing & everyone is feels pinch—Natalicio #TTFhigher

10:32 AM - 20 Sep 2014

1 RETWEET

During the Q&A portion, the issue of student services arose. An audience member explained how she sees students struggling to find the right advisers and the right classes, and are therefore struggling to graduate on time. UH has addressed this recently, trying to introduce block scheduling and better advisers, but it was Powers who jumped at the question.

 Natalie Harms Follow
@nataliejharms

Powers: Providing a degree "roadmap" at large universities is the biggest challenge. We need to simplify the pathways. #TTFhighered

10:47 AM - 20 Sep 2014

1 RETWEET 2 FAVORITES

Panelists: State Rep./House Higher Ed Committee Chairman Dan Branch, Khator, TX State Chancellor Brian McCall, UTEP President Diana Natalicio and Powers, with Hamilton as moderator.

In general, my first two panels have been great, but I am disappointed in the two panels for not talking about some of the bigger issues. Also, I think the responses to most of the questions were general and not saying anything ground breaking or innovative. What can ya expect.

ALSO, this happened...

 Natalie Harms Follow
@nataliejharms

LOL @reevehamilton identified Bill Powers as a representative of the most elite school in #TTFhighered panel & @UHpres said I'm not so sure

10:11 AM - 20 Sep 2014 Houston, TX, United States

4 RETWEETS 2 FAVORITES

but go Khator/Coogs!

Here's us:

BFFs.

My lil journo.

About these ads

Occasionally, some of your visitors may see an advertisement here.

Tell me more | Dismiss this message over-publicize this:EmailPrintPress ThisTweet 1Like 0ReblogLike

Be the first to like this.

Related

UH can and should have a mandatory freshmen housing rule
In "Long-winded rants"

TITLE TKT
In "State of mind"

Bike bullies.
In "State of mind"

This entry was posted in Culturally Inclined and tagged higher ed higher education. Renu Khator, texas, Texas Tribune. Tribune Festival Bookmark the permalink. Edit

---

« 50 FUN, CHEAP DATES \(THAT AREN'T NETFLIX\)

got something to say? say it.

Enter your comment here...

»

---

Blog at WordPress.com. | The Ascetica Theme.

«